All of us love Christmas and, of course,
Christmas trees.
Everyone knows that Christmas trees can be of three types – natural,

...artificial,

*...and
unpredictable.*

There are also many different Christmas tree “mutants”.

*In a word, the land is clear for us for that matter.
And what about underwater Christmas and Christmas trees?*

To answer this question, let's have a look into the sea.

Well,
there are also different Christmas trees.
And obviously they can be
artificial,

...natural,

A full-page photograph of a diver in a blue ocean next to a large, branching red coral structure. The diver is positioned at the top of the coral, appearing to be working on it. The coral has a dense, tree-like structure with many small, rounded tips. The background is a deep blue sea with some smaller coral and fish visible in the distance.

sometimes
even with Christmas decorations
already.*

The candidate for the role of Santa under water is the only one, and no one is going to contest this.

As for Fairies,
sometimes
there are several questions...

Some of the underwater disputes on this issue are settled in a peaceful and civilized way,

...while others finishes with some small scuffles...

There, in the depths, you can find a plenty of absolutely free fairy lights,

...colorful tapes,

...confetti of various colors, and...

...stylish
Christmas masks.

*Besides, there are many different

At this time of the year, local underwater theater presents different...

...Christmas
shows,

...with famous stars,

Be assured, you will be kindly offered a comfortable non-slip chair in the front row of seats,

...at the end of the holiday you will be given a bag of tasty gifts.

And,
of course,
a nice
souvenir!

*So, welcome to underwater Christmas!
Just one advice in conclusion...*

At the end of the holiday, you had better express appreciation to Fairy. She will convey your thanks to Santa Claus afterwards...

*So, that's all. Now let's think together where to celebrate
