Of course, not a single normal person will want to leave his warm and comfortable armchair just for nothing.

Moreover, to come to a wild place, and to live...

And for all this, have a doubtful joy of observing at 4 o'clock in the morning some birdie's baggie inflate...

...a far-off desert bloom with "bright colors",...

...or some exotic horribles fall asleep peacefully on the sand.

No way. This phenomenon should have a rather scientific, medical explanation.

And here it is. All this — is an effect of a virus, which is called "wind of travels".

It penetrates our house, if we ventilate it too often or intercommunicate with those already sick.

Namely this virus can add colours to a scary shark turning it to a cute fish,

...and a dog-house-sized building seems to be a beautiful, fairy-tale house.

So, if suddenly you want to travel somewhere, it means the virus has come into you and it must be drawn out quickly.

There is a number of efficient treatment procedures.

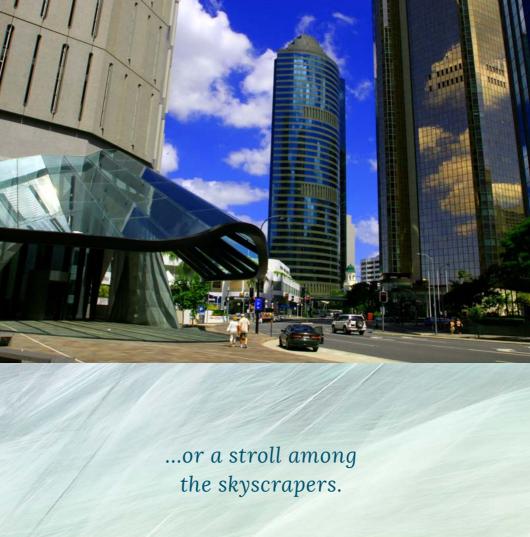

The most reliable remedy — is to start watching a TV, a news programs especially.

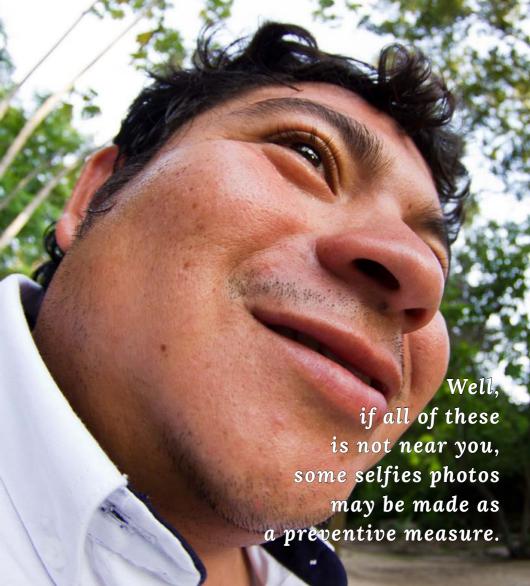

Then, a continuous sitting at a computer helps a lot.

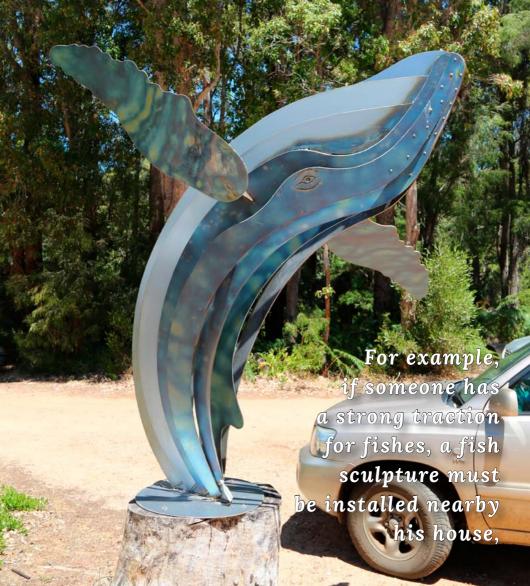

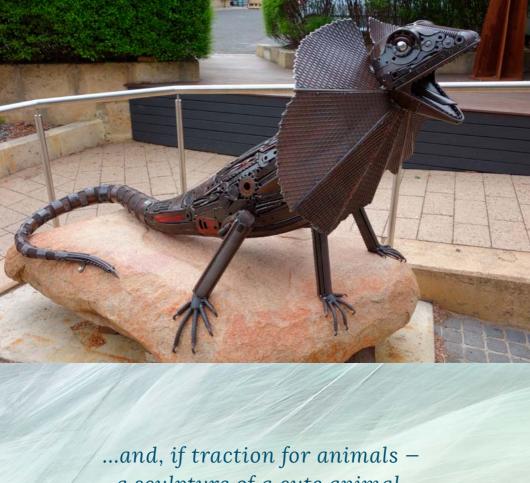

Not bad else is a walk for some shopping...

a sculpture of a cute animal.

If the virus of travels is not treated at all, it will progress and may develop into an acute form and then, the TV itself will get injured,

... as well, as other things of civilization.

The virus of travels is very infectious. It may spread quickly to close relatives,...

in a metro.

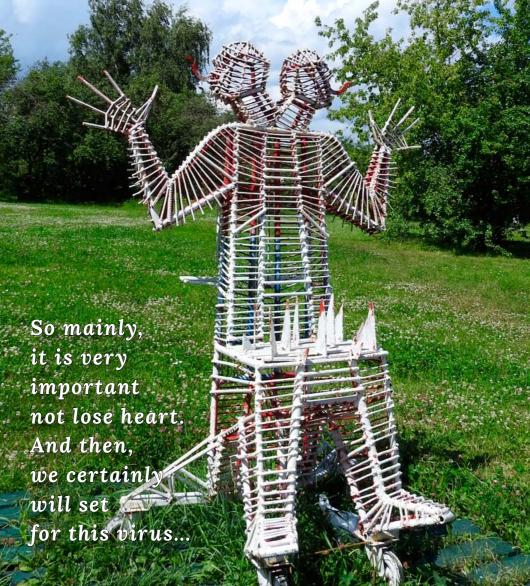

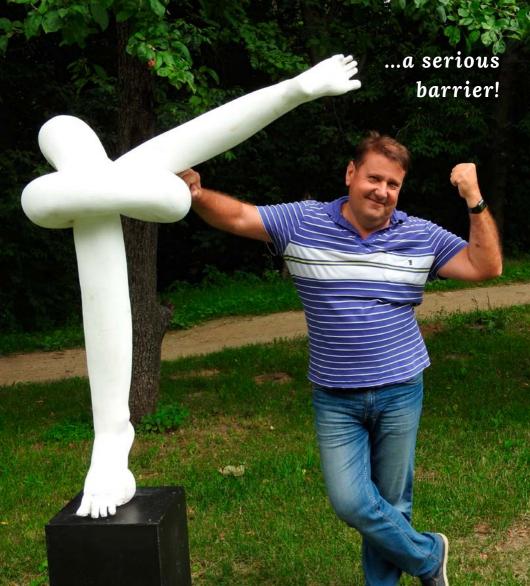

Although, the children are the most sensitive to it.

That is why, it is very important to scare them away from the virus of travels timely and inventively.
